FBI to Check $30,000 Given Truman Fund

By LEWIS GULICK

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Justice Department has taken over investigation of transactions involving $30,000 paid to William Mayock, a lawyer, for getting a favorable tax ruling.

Mayock testified he paid $30,000 of this into Democratic campaign fund coffers in 1948, and that he got the ruling after a personal appeal to then Secretary of Treasury, John W. Snyder.

The Mayock case was among the last unearthed by a House ways and means subcommittee which yesterday wound up more than two years of a frequently sensational inquiry into handling of tax matters during the Truman administration.

Justice Department officials announced yesterday the FBI will investigate the case.

Mayock, who described himself as a volunteer counsel for the Democratic National Committee in 1948, told the House group earlier this week he got the $30,000 from William S. Lasson, chemical company executive of Yonkers, N. Y., after obtaining the Treasury Department ruling favoring Lasson.

Snyder, now vice president of Willys-Overland Motors, Inc., at Toledo, Ohio, has said he does not recall the incident.

Subcommittee Chairman Kean (R-NJ) turned the case over to the Justice Department following Mayock's further testimony that he gave $8,750 piece out of his fee to Louis Markus and William Solomon of New York. Mayock said the two men had put him in touch with Lasson.

Markus and Solomon both denied getting the money from Mayock. Kean remarked the conflicting testimony indicated someone was guilty of perjury and income tax evasion.

90 More GIs Freed and In Better Health

By MILO FARNETI

PANMUNJOM (AP) — Some laughter and joy came to Panmunjom today as 90 Americans returned to freedom in obviously better health and spirits than those liberated in the first three days of the great Korean prisoner exchange.

There were few maimed and haggard men in today's group.

The Reds sent back 250 South Koreans, 90 Americans, 35 Turks and 25 British — a total of 400.

They said Sunday's group of 400 will include 250 ROKs, 112 Americans, 21 British, 13 Turks, 2 Austrians, 1 Canadian and 1 Filipino.

The 112 Americans will be the biggest shipment of U.S. troops so far in four days of "Operation Big Switch" and will bring the total of Americans returned to 401.

The Reds have promised to send back 3,313 Americans among 12,763 Allied POWs.

So far, the four-day exchange has brought back a grand total of 1,205 ROKs, 311 Americans, 143 Turks, 126 British, 34 Filipinos, 21 Colombians, 7 French, 6 Austrians, and 1 each Belgian, Canadian, Greek and South African.

The prisoners released Saturday rolled out of the north in Fred Trucks under a broiling sun.

One carried a skin drum and another wore a red and white cap standing out brightly against the dull blue POW clothing.

Eighty were Negroes, many from the old 24th Regiment, disbanded two years ago when the Army abolished racial segregation.

The returnees were exuberant. "Well, well, old chap, Pal Malis, no less," one quipped to St. Louis Balent of Summerville, N. J., when the military policeman dumped a carton of cigarettes into a helmet and passed them around.

"Be light, be bright! It sure is good to be back to this little piece of the old U.S."

"Man do you realize we are in the USA?" cried Pfc. Frank J. Quarles of Hopkinsville, Ky., as his truck pulled into the exchange point.

"I just can't keep my mouth shut," he said.

"It was a long trip and a sick one."

Seeing a convoy of singing Red North Koreans driving up the road, the Americans yelled and hoed.

"We might as well sing, too — shall we give him a little blues, boys?"

A deeper note was struck by the Turks and South Koreans. Their hatred of their captors was so intense that scores tore off their Chinese prison uniforms in spontaneous acts of defiance.

Forced Labor Feared Fate of Americans

By JOHN W. FINNEY

WASHINGTON (UP) — Speculation grew in army circles today that the Communists have shipped captured Americans to China as forced laborers or propaganda tools.

There is some evidence that a few Americans have even been sent to Russia to help build harbors on the Siberian coast.

Such use of captured U.S. troops, if confirmed, would help account for the discrepancy between the number of Americans listed by the United States as missing and the number listed by the Communists as captives.

Gen. Mark W. Clark, United Nations supreme commander in the Far East, said yesterday there is some indication that the Reds may be holding 2,000 to 3,000 more Americans than the 3,313 they agreed to return.

The army lists 8,705 U.S. soldiers as missing in action, and officials have fear many of those not reported by the Communists may be dead.

But the army knows for a fact that a small group of captured Americans were taken to Manchuria and South China for "indoctrination." Some of them have made propaganda broadcasts for the Reds' Peiping radio although they have never been reported by the Communists as captives.

Other American prisoners have been reported in European stockpiles such as Czechoslovakia and Poland.

There also have been reports from Chinese refugees that several thousand American soldiers with special skills were sent to northeast China and Manchuria to work in mines and factories.

The army does not confirm these reports, but officials recalled that in World War II the Russians used captured Germans and Japanese as forced laborers. Thousands of them have yet to be freed, despite frequent Western demands that they be sent home.

Several congressmen urged that the administration do everything possible to confirm whether the Communists are holding back U.S. prisoners now and, if they are, to take action to get them back.

CRUDE OIL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Arkansas' stock of crude petroleum totaled 8,600 barrels on Aug. 1, a decrease of 100,000 barrels from the previous week, the Bureau of Mines reported yesterday.

The national stock of domestic and foreign crude petroleum products Aug. 1 was 79,144,000, a net increase of 34,000 barrels.

Russia Again Using Famous Doubletalk

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — If the state of men's minds could always be read from what they wrote, it might seem the Russians were unsure of themselves in their note this week on the Big Four foreign ministers conference.

But, since they've made a practice of double talk, the note's purpose was probably to confuse, not enlighten. The State Department is trying now to decide what it means.

The Russians have controlled East Germany completely for the eight years since World War II. That would seem time enough to crush the East Germans' spirit and discipline them under communism if they could not be won over to it.

At the need of the eight years, the East Germans—through riots, defiance in accepting American food, and desertions from the police and Army—have demonstrated neither discipline nor love.

This might be enough to shake some of the Russians' confidence in themselves, particularly since they're trying to feel their way under a new regime at home.

The Russians have consistently brushed aside suggestions by this country and its big Western allies that East and West Germany be allowed to hold free elections for a single German government.

With the hatred expressed by the East Germans in recent weeks, the Russians must feel even less inclination than ever to permit them to unite with the West Germans whose present government is pro-Western. It seems impossible that the Communists would consent to free German elections or unification in the foreseeable future.

The United States has repeatedly urged the Russians to agree on those two points until this summer. The last time the State Department made the proposal was in September 1952. The Russians never answered.

But in July, Secretary of State Dulles met here with the foreign ministers of Britain and France. On July 15 they sent the Russians a note suggesting that they and the Russian foreign minister meet to consider German unification and free elections.

The Western Powers could hardly lose with such a note, even if the Russians didn't answer. The proposal at least might win support for Chancellor Konrad Adenauer in the West German elections of Sept. 6.

Adenauer has worked with the Western nations and it would be to their benefit for him to win. He has run into some intense opposition in Western Germany, which might indicate something else not at all visible now.

That if Germany ever did get reunited it might not line up with either camp for a long time but try to play off the West against Russia, or the other way around.

Tuesday night the Russian responded to the Western proposal with a vague and rambling note which indicated — or so it seemed — that their foreign minister would talk about Germany with the other three foreign ministers.

But the Russians thoroughly scrambled up the business by inserting insistence that the Communist Chinese must sit in on possible discussions about easing world tensions.

The only purpose of the Russian note, probably is to make them look good, or at least not stubbornly bad, in the eyes of the East Germans. The foreign ministers' conference, if and when it started, could be booby-trapped with so much mumbo-jumbo about China that it would have to break up in despair.

In their note, in an almost self-conscious and defensive way, the Russians warned the West not to get too hopeful that the Communists were losing their grip on East Germany just because there had been some trouble there.

Arkadelphia Plant to Start in November

ARKADELPHIA (AP) — The Reynolds Metals Company's $3 million dollar smelting plant at nearby Gum Springs probably will begin production of virgin aluminum in November.

This was disclosed today by Jim Hutchinson, works manager, who said construction of the plant is far "on a wing and a prayer."

The plant, Hutchinson said, will employ about 550 persons with an annual payroll of about two million dollars.

Democratic Congressmen generally complained that Mr. Eisenhower failed to give them due credit in his nationwide radio broadcast, that what he said seemed to be mostly praise for the Republicans.

Sen. Robert S. Kerr (D-Okla.) said the President has survived so far "on a wing and a prayer—A wing for the Republican party and a prayer of thanksgiving that there were enough Democrats around to help carry him through."

Dulles Signs Security Pact With ROK's

By WILLIAM C. BARNARD

SEOUL (AP) — A treaty pledging America's military might in defense of war-battered South Korea if Red armies break the truce and attack again was initiated here today.

The mutual security pact, which must win U. S. Senate approval, was initiated by Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and ROK Foreign Minister Pyun Yong Tal.

The ceremonies in President Syngman Rhee's hillside mansion climaxed four days of important conferences between Rhee and Dulles.

It came as U. N. headquarters in New York announced that 10 Allied nations with troops in Korea have promised to take up arms again in the event of a new Communist attack. But Britain and Canada later hedged their commitment.

Dulles and Rhee, in a joint statement issued as the security pact was initiated, hailed their work as "an important contribution to the development of independence and freedom in the Far East."

They also announced a United States-Korea agreement to walk out of the forthcoming political conference if both feel after 90 days that the Communists are "exploiting" efforts to achieve peace in Korea.

Dulles, his mission to Korea completed, flew to Tokyo Saturday evening on the first leg of his trip back to Washington.

Dulles said he and Japanese Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida would meet Saturday night to "talk over" matters of common concern, both relating to Japan and to the free world position in the Far East.

Dulles promised another statement before leaving Japan for Washington Sunday.

The security pact agreed upon by Dulles and Rhee provides for basing American troops in Korea. But the secretary of state told a news conference that "we want to get our armed forces home as soon as is consistent with our responsibilities."

Dulles and his advisers also discussed with South Korean leaders a vast program of economic aid planned by the United States to rebuild the war-shattered land.

The three-to-four-year program contemplates one billion dollars in American aid, of which 200 million already has been approved by Congress.

Harris Returns Home From Washington

Congressman Owen Harris arrived home today from Washington with his family following disappointment of Congress this week.

The Fourth District Representative returned home by automobile leaving Washington Wednesday after cleaning up some work on his desk and in the office.

"We are exceedingly glad to be back home after another long and trying session of Congress," Congressman Harris stated. "Though the Congress got off to a slow start the early part of the year, we have been going at a rapid pace during these closing weeks."

Congressman Harris announces that he will open offices on the second floor of the Post Office Building in El Dorado within the next few days. He will maintain offices here in the District during the adjournment of Congress through December.

He plans to spend most of the time in the District, visiting, meeting and talking with his constituents. Although he will be out of the District a great deal, he can be contacted through his office in El Dorado.

Miss Christine Christie and Miss Ruth Collins, of Ashdown, of his staff will be in the office.

Mr. Harris says that he may have some Committee work during the Fall and it is entirely possible the President will call a Special Session, but "I hope to spend most of the time in the District. Eight months is a long time to be away."

He is anxious to get in a "little fishing" and a few days relaxation.

Washington Test to Be Spudded in on Monday

The Gunter No. 1, a wildcat oil test about a mile and a half west of Washington is scheduled to be spudded in Monday.

A heavy rig has already been moved in by the T. W. Murray Petroleum Company of San Angelo, Texas. No definite depth has been set.

The operation is headed by Claude Garner, former resident of Washington.

Bill to Admit 214,000 Into U. S. Signed

By A. I. Goldberg

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower signed into law today a bill to admit 214,000 extra refugees, orphans and other aliens into the United States in the next three years.

He called the legislation "a significant humanitarian act and an important contribution toward greater understanding and cooperation among the nations of the free world."

The President affixed his signature in the presence of a group of congressional leaders and other persons active in the measure's behalf.

In a statement about the bill, Eisenhower said:

"It is a dramatic contrast to the tragic events taking place in Eastern Germany and in other captive nations."

The President went on to say the bill "demonstrates again America's traditional concern for the homeless, the persecuted and the less fortunate of other lands."

The bill finally sent to the President is a compromise measure containing many provisions aimed at screening out any Communist agents among the immigrants to be admitted over and above regular quotas.

Sen. McCarran (D-Nev.) led a fight against the measure but finally accepted the rewritten version, which will allow the admission of a somewhat smaller number of aliens than Eisenhower originally asked. It also will lengthen the period of the program from two to three years.

The largest number of visas is allotted to persons who have escaped or been expelled from behind the Iron Curtain and have straggled into Western Germany or Western Austria.

These are divided into two groups. One is made up of persons of German ethnic origin who were born in Russia or her European satellites, but forced out. Other persons who have escaped from these areas compose the second group.

The new law authorizes the admission of 55,000 German expellees and 35,000 escapees residing in Western Germany or Austria. It also permits the entry of 10,000 escapees residing in North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) nations, or in Sweden, Iran or the free territory of Trieste.

The law earmarks 45,000 visas for Italian refugees, 15,000 Italians, 2,000 Greeks and 2,000 Dutch who, even though they may not be refugees, have close relatives living in this country.

Ex-Legislator Dies in Newton

FAYETTEVILLE (AP) — Rural Custer Ham of Jasper, Newton County school supervisor and former Arkansas legislator, died of a heart attack here last night.

Ham, 51, was attending a summer workshop for school administrators and working on his master's degree in school administration at the University of Arkansas.

He was stricken outside the College of Education as he prepared to attend a class yesterday afternoon. He was taken to a hospital where he suffered another attack and died.

Ham represented Newton County in the Arkansas House from 1939 through 1943.

He is survived by his widow and four sons. Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

16 Members of UN Pledges to Resist Attacks

By A. I. Goldberg

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — A U. S. report to the United Nations has disclosed that the 16 U. N. members who fought in Korea are pledged to resist any new attack on South Korea even if fighting should spread beyond Korean borders.

Italy and Canada quickly declared, however, that the promise did not commit them to any definite course of action. A Canadian spokesman said any move to meet a new attack would be taken only after consultations among the 16 nations.

Signing of the pledge July 27 was revealed in almost routine fashion here yesterday in a special report on the Korean armistice negotiations. The report was presented by the United States—the U. N. unified command leader.

It was made public shortly before U. S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles in a joint statement with South Korean President Syngman Rhee warned the Communists that the U. N. Command would meet any new attack in violation of the armistice. The Dulles-Rhee statement was issued in Seoul as the United States and South Korea initiated a mutual security pact.

The pledge was signed by the United States, Britain, France, Australia, Belgium, Colombia, Canada, Ethiopia, Greece, Luxembourg, The Philippines, The Netherlands, New Zealand, Thailand, Turkey and South Africa.

It declared that "if there is a renewal of the armed attack, challenging the principles of the United Nations, we should again be united and prompt to resist."

"The consequences of such a breach of the armistice would be so grave," the pledge continued, "that in all probability, it would not be possible to confine hostilities within the frontiers of Korea."

A British Foreign Office spokesman in London said his government did not consider the pledge committed them in advance to "any precise course of action."

Explaining that only "hypothetical" situations were covered by the pledge, he said action taken would have to be in line with circumstances at the time.

A Canadian Foreign Office spokesman also said Canada would not be committed in advance to retaliate against Communist China for any new aggression in Korea.

Pipeline Work Halted by Strike

SEARCY (AP) — Construction has been halted by a strike at a three-million dollar Texas-Illinois Pipeline Co. compressor station near here.

An unofficial source said picket lines were established last Tuesday by members of a steelworkers and pipefitters union in a dispute with a contractor over travel time.

Officials of the Hydro-Carbon Co., a Houston, Tex., contractor, was not available for comment.

The spokesman, who declined use of his name, said the dispute concerned payment for travel to and from the construction site, about three miles southwest of here.

Some 240 workers are employed in building the compressor station, 13 houses for plant personnel, a recreation center and a commissary.

3 Americans Refuse Their Freedom

By JIM BECKER

FREEDOM VILLAGE, Korea (AP) — An American soldier freed by the Communists today said three fellow Americans stayed behind in North Korea not because they were Communist converts but because they feared retaliation from fellow captives.

Another liberated POW said he knew of one captive killed by fellow prisoners because he was a "stool pigeon."

"We had quite a bit of that," said Cpl. Tommie Hampton of Chicago.

M. Sgt. Louis M. Leach of Columbus, Ga., was asked by newsmen if he felt the three who stayed behind did so because they feared retaliation from fellow captives.

"You're damned right I think so," Leach said bitterly. "We told them we would throw them over the side of the ship. There's guys up there who would give their lives to get even."

Another POW, Cpl. Roosevelt Powell Jr., 25, of Okmulgee, Okla., said the three informed on fellow captives.

"They tried hard to get information," Powell said, "and we tried to keep it from them."

Others of the 90 Americans, including 80 Negroes, who came back Saturday from North Korea, prison camps added a new twist to the life in the Red stockades — the smoking by some captives of a narcotic weed, possibly marijuana.

"They said prisoners held at Pyongyang on the Yalu River just south of Manchuria found the weed — which gave an intoxicating effect when smoked — while on weed gathering forays outside the compounds."

Pfc. Robert I. Brooks, 23, of Roldville, S. C., said the Chinese "could have stopped" its use "if they had really wanted to."

Another liberated POW, Cpl. Albert Dixon, 20, of Manchester, Iowa, declared the Reds had made some effort to stop the practice.

Brooks said he thought the Communists encouraged its use "because if they figured they could make a junkie out of you, you would be willing to do what they wanted."

Senator Cases Plans Will Save Millions

By EDWIN B. HASKINSON

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Case (R-SD) said today that trimming bills from plans for overseas military installations and requiring joint use of some by different services was saving "millions."

Case is chairman of a three-man Senate armed services subcommittee which has been holding closed-door sessions on secret military projects abroad. The groups' approval in detail is required before construction of a base can begin.

Elimination of such things as officers' clubs and canteens, housing and a requirement that the Navy and Air Force jointly use certain facilities produced most of the savings, Case said in an interview.

Case said he and the other two subcommittee members, Senators Duff (D-Pa.) and Stennis (D-Miss.) will make an inspection of overseas projects in Spain, North Africa, England and France from Sept. 4 to Oct. 7 before clearing a number of secret projects.

This was seen as an indication that a start may be near on the long delayed project of building U.S. air bases in Spain, for which Congress has voted about $15 million dollars as part of foreign aid programs.

Case disclosed a new policy of "fixed price contracts" on construction of U.S. air bases in North Africa. Most of the prior contracts were on a basis of "cost plus fixed fee" and congressional investigators said this was cause of waste and extravagance.

Dislike Flying

Birds prefer not to fly. They fly to obtain food and to escape from their enemies. Birds living in regions free from carnivorous animals tend to lose their flying ability.

Meteorite Disagitation

As meteors come in contact with the earth's atmosphere, the friction burns most of them up. Others slow down and cool off before striking the earth.

Japan has about 300,000 fishing craft, the United States about 90,000, Spain 38,000 and Italy about 33,000.
